Bobcats Take Stamps 19-7 in Final Half

Hope's light Bobcats overcame a 7-0 halftime deficit to score a 19-7 victory of the Stamps Yellowjackets in the opening game of the season here last night before a capacity crowd. It was a surprisingly good game so early in the season.

With many of the fans already conceding defeat the heavily out-weighted Bobcats literally played the visiting class B boys off their feet in the final two quarters to win going away.

Brising line play featured the game throughout. Unable to gain through the Bobcat forwards, Stamps took to the air with a good passing attack but Jimmy Dan Barber, Hope right end, intercepted a pass in the flat and reed 50 yards for a touchdown, ending the visitor's most serious chance to tie the score.

Some mighty midgets in the Bobcat told the story. Baber, Chubby Williams and Neal played stellar roles in the line but Royce Barbaree Chubby Williams and Robert Cox were sensational. They were in on practically every tackle.

In the backfield Bright and Stanford, who finally decided they could run, gained confidence as the contest went along and looked exceptionally well as did Martin and Stone, a newcomer who turned in some nice gains.

The first half belonged to Stamps who rolled up 72 yards from scrimmage in Hope's 36. After an equal first period the Yellowjackets' Burke realizing plays wouldn't work, tossed a 26-yard touchdown pass to his left end, Jesse Sanders, who went over untouched.

Farker kicked the extra point making it 7-0, the halftime score.

During the rest period the Hope High School Band greeted folks with every fancy "HOWDY" in its first appearances of the year.

Hope came back fighting in the third period, took the opening kickoff and marched 75 yards off a touchdown with Martin scoring from 3 yards out on a quarterback sneak. Bright kicked the point and the score was tied 7-7.

The second Bobcat tally was set up in the third period and scored in the 4th. Bright, Stanford and England alternated in carrying the ball from their own 35 to the Stamps 2 where Bright crashed over Hope 13, Stamps 7.

The Yellowjackets came back fighting with Burke hitting Sanders and Farley on short screen and fast passes. But Hope's Baber latched onto one on the 50 and raced untouched across the goal, putting Hope ahead 19-7.

Hope made 17 first downs, 6 in the final half, to 5 for Stamps. The Bobcats passed 8 times, completed two and had one intercepted. Stamps threw 16, completed 7 and had one intercepted for a touchdown. Hope drew 5 penalties for 25 yards, Stamps 3 for 25. Hope fumbled four times, recovered two Stamps fumbled three and recovered one. Hope gained 141 net yards from scrimmage and Stamps netted 129.

Reds May Be Willing to Change Site

Tokyo, Sept. 8 —(AP)— Communist propaganda broadcasts tonight hinted that the Reds may be willing to change the site of cease-fire talks from Kaesong as proposed by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway.

The remarks were unofficial, and did not say the Reds accepted the supreme Allied commander's proposal. The talks have been suspended since Aug. 23.

The first hint came from the North Korean Red radio at Pyongyang. It urged the Korean people to be "cautious" about changing the site.

Later Peiping radio quoted a Communist correspondent as saying "wherever the talks are held, nothing will come of them unless the Americans are willing to agree to the armistice on the lines proposed by (Russia's) Jacob Malin."

Presumably he was referring to the 38th parallel, where the Reds want the buffer line drawn. The U. N. wants the buffer zone generally along present battle lines.

A high-ranking officer in Allied headquarters said a major communist offensive in Korea would not endanger the talks.

Spring Hill Man Loses Leg in Accident

Albert Lee Anderson, about 25, a resident of Spring Hill, lost his left leg yesterday in a drag line accident at Fulton.

He was employed by a bridge crew which is building a pipeline bridge across Red River. Details of the accident could not be learned but it was reported that the drag line cable snapped and hit his leg.

His left leg was completely severed midway between the ankle and knee. Attending physician, Dr. Walter Sims, reported he was resting well.

Senate Bill to Increase Postal Rates

Washington, Sept. 8 —(AP)— The cost of sending a letter would go up from three to four cents under a postal rate increase bill passed by the senate last night and sent to the house.

The measure also would make the penny postcard only a memory, raise airmail rates and boost charges on other types of mail in an effort to swell the post office department's revenues around $400,000,000 a year.

Even so the department would be left in the red. Its expenses now outrun its income more than $500,000,000 annually.

And it was only because the senate wrangled so long over the rate increase bill that it failed to hike the pay of postal workers slightly more than $200,000,000 a year.

Senators had hoped to whip through an 8.3 percent salary increase for postal employees yesterday, but at the end of last night's session majority Leader McFarland of Arizona said it now would have to wait until other top-priority legislation is out of the way.

Despite a drawn-out debate and some backing and filling the senate in the end made only one change in the postal rate increases recommended by its post office committee.

By a vote of 46 to 24, it adopted an amendment of Sen. Long (D-La.) making a 60 per cent increase in the postal rates for magazines over a three-year period.

The increase would be 20 per cent a year instead of the three 10 per cent increases proposed by the committee.

The department's biggest yield would come from raising the rate on first-class (sealed) letters from three to four cents. The change would bring in an estimated $200,000,000.

The upping of the charge on postcards from one to two cents was expected to add $44,136,000 to postal revenues. The senate rejected effort to exempt from the increase personal, handwritten postcards or those sent by non-profit organizations.

The senate refused to go along with efforts to force Postmaster General Donaldson to restore two-day mail deliveries in residential areas.

The Frisco Railway's diesel-powered passenger car — the "Dinky" — made its last run between Hugo, Oklahoma and Hope yesterday.

Abandonment of the run climaxed years of effort by the railway to discontinue the service was finally granted by the public service commissions of the two states.

Group to View Dillard Pasture at Saratoga

The cows graze less than an hour then go to the shade with their fill stand Wiley Dillard of Saratoga.

Mr. Dillard was thinking of old Hereford cows of W. M. Dillard and Son about one mile south of Saratoga. The Dillards Herefords have 50 acres Sudan grass for grazing. The Sudan has a sweet, juicy stalk which makes it very palatable or likeable to dairy and beef cattle alike. The Sudan growth in the Dillard planting is dark green in color and four to six feet in height. The polled Herefords have been grazing the planting about 3 weeks and Mr. Dillard expects more than ample forage of quality until frost.

Wednesday morning, September 12th, at 10:15 o'clock livestock men and other interested individuals are invited to the Dillard farm by County Agent Oliver L. Adams to inspect the 50 acre Sudan pasture. The Dillards will tell the story of the Sudan planting and show their cattle in the planting. All beef and dairy producers are invited.

Gromyko Affair Still a Mystery

San Francisco, Sept. 8 —(AP)— "L'affaire Gromyko" remained a mystery today. Officials who might know refused to say whether they thought it was a fantastic plot to kill the Russian diplomat, or an equally fantastic coincidence.

Police were tipped Thursday night that White Russians were going to kill Andrei Gromyko Friday morning as the Soviet delegation to the Japanese peace conference sped along busy Bayshore boulevard.

The novel and unromantic weapon: A beer truck, to be rammed into Gromyko's automobile.

The Russian delegation was informed. Members showed no alarm, only curiosity.

The group left suburban Hillsborough 25 minutes later than usual Friday morning, preceded, followed and flanked by state highway patrol cars. The caravan followed a circuitous route to Bayshore, then sped north toward San Francisco.

Sure enough, just outside the city line was an overturned truck, its wheel still spinning in the air. It carried beer instead of beer. And right behind it were two beer trucks snarled up in the traffic jam.

State Highway Patrolmen took a quick look, then waved the delegation and its entourage on to the conference. The limousines whizzed past at nearly 70 miles an hour. Gromyko was at his seat in the San Francisco Memorial Opera House on schedule.

From there it's anybody's guess. Accidents are common on Bayshore boulevard, and trucks — beer, bacon and other types — are frequently involved.

Tips to the police by cranks are common, too.

Gromyko said only, "I have nothing today."

Other officials said the same, in about the same number of words.

Prices Hiked on All New Automobiles

Detroit, Sept. 8 —(AP)— Higher price tags for most lines of the nation's new passenger cars were being figured out today.

Some of the boosts, expected to run from about $15 on the lowest priced cars to as much as $250 on higher priced models, probably will be effective by the end of next week.

Authorization to make the increase under a complicated formula that would raise prices an estimated five to six per cent was given the industry yesterday by the office of price stabilization.

By the time retail dealers are allowed to apply their profit margins, ranging from 15 to 30 per cent, it is estimated that the total boost might go as high as eight per cent over current list prices.

Further price increases also are possible, the OPS order indicated.

The announcement brought immediate reaction that the "big three" of General Motors, Ford and Chrysler would make the increases effective as quickly as possible.

GM President C. E. Wilson said the full amount of the increase authorized by OPS would be passed on to the retail buyers. Chrysler, in a statement, said that the company "does not give the relief that is needed." Ford withheld immediate comment.

In an earlier statement, however, Ford Vice-President Ernest R. Brech emphasized that Ford's manufacturing costs had gone up tremendously in the past year. He implied that a price increase would be made effective as soon as possible.

So far, only Packard has said definitely that it will not increase prices. Some others among the independents, or smaller companies, also are expected to withhold immediate price advances.

Under the formula for computing the new ceilings, the manufacturers must select the best selling model of each make of car. By relating his increased cost of materials and labor to his base period price, he will obtain a price "adjustment factor."

This factor — a percentage figure — then will be applied to all models of that particular make to arrive at new ceilings.

GM's President Wilson made it clear, in an interview last night, that he, too, felt the authorized increase was none too liberal.

"The auto industry has been discriminated against right along he said. 'As a matter of fact increases in auto price aren't inflationary. It's the mounting prices of other necessities, like food and clothing, that tend toward inflation.'

Chrysler's statement said flatly that "the automobile price order now issued by OPA authorizes recovery of only a part of increased costs experienced by Chrysler."

The increase was the second granted the industry since the Korean war began. Car prices were frozen last Dec. 1, but on March 1 OPS allowed a 2 1/2 per cent hike over the freeze prices.

Stolen Car Is Recovered by State Officers

An auto stolen September 5 at Fulton was recovered just outside Hope City limits, west on Highway 67, today by Sgt. Harold Porterfield and Travis Ward of the State Police.

Arrested with the automobile were two Odgen, Ark. negroes, Cecil Hamilton who is charged with the theft, and Sam Thompson. The auto belonged to Hamilton's step-father of Fulton.

Hurricane Still Swirling Off Florida

Miami Fla., Sept. 8 (AP). — The monster hurricane named "Easy" — the fifth and most savage of the season — continued swirling to the northwest today and gradually lost forward speed.

Terrible 160 mile per hour winds still lashed the dark Atlantic into 100 foot waves, but each passing hour lessened the threat to the Florida mainland.

Hurricane experts at the Miami weather bureau said the turn to a more northerly course probably would continue for the next 24 hours.

At 5 a. m. (EST) hurricane "Easy" was 740 miles east of Vero Beach, Fla. Strongest winds were 160 miles per hour with hurricane force wind (75 miles per hour) extending 100 miles from the center.

Somewhere in the storm's turbulent northern sector the steamship "African Grove" wallowed in "extremely high seas" and 100-mile-per-hour winds.

The ship sent in regular radio reports to the weather bureau and said she was not in any trouble.

Another steamship, the "Runghine," reported she was near hurricane "fox" — the sixth of the season — far out in the Atlantic about 640 miles southeast of Bermuda.

The "Runghine" appeared to be having difficulty making observations, the weather bureau said. Neither vessel was further identified.

The weather bureau said it was most unusual to receive reports from two ships near two different hurricanes at the same time. Ships had been warned to avoid both storms.

Hurricane "fox" was gaining in strength and speed. Highest winds were estimated at 115 miles per hour, with hurricane force winds extending out 100 miles north of the center and 50 miles to the south.

The storm was moving west northwest or northwest at between 10 and 20 miles an hour. No land areas were threatened.

Bermuda was alerted for possible hurricane winds tonight, and small craft on the North Carolina and Virginia coasts were warned not to venture into the open Atlantic until "easy" passes.

Lewisville Woman Seriously Hurt in Auto Wreck

Mrs. J. F. Clark of Lewisville was seriously injured late yesterday when a Puller Lumber Co. truck driven by George Gibson, 30, of Lewisville crashed almost head-on into her car about 15 miles south on Highway 28.

Investigating State officers Louis Hiltton and Guy Downing said the truck simply crowded over too far on the wrong side of the road. Mrs. Clark was brought to a Hope hospital for treatment. Gibson posted bond on an open charge.

In another accident late yesterday near Crossroads community two trucks collided and the driver of one, a man named Porter is reported to have been seriously injured.

All But Three Nations to Sign Treaty

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

San Francisco, Sept. 8 — (AP) — Every nation at the San Francisco conference — except the three Communist bloc-enders — lined up early today to sign the Japanese peace treaty.

Not one was held back from the signing ceremony — scheduled to start at 10 a. m. 11 a. m. C.S.T. — by Soviet Delegate Andrei Gromyko's thunderings that it is a pact for a rebirth of Japanese militarism and a "new war" in the orient.

Gromyko himself went down to defeat in a free-for-all conference debate last night, shouting the diplomatic version of "we was robbed." He blamed his reverses here on American "pressure" on other delegations.

A short time later he rose from his fifth row seat and with his Communist colleagues walked out of the hall. But it was a false withdrawal from a conference.

Three minutes later the usually grim-faced Russian, grinning apparently at the excitement he had caused, walked back in again.

The Russian, Polish and Czech delegates generally were expected to boycott the signing ceremony today. Gromyko, however, had called a 9 a. m. (10 a. m. C.S.T.) press conference, perhaps to explain his position and take a few last cracks at the United States and Britain and the treaty they so successfully sponsored here.

British officials said that Foreign Minister Herbert Morrison, who arrived last night, might speak briefly when he signs the pact. No other talks were due, however, as negotiations beginning with Argentina and ending with Vietnam advanced in alphabetical order to commit themselves to the pact.

It was believed that the pact would also bring the signing of a security treaty between the United States and Japan under which American troops will remain in Japan after peace becomes a reality. No plans for this signing had been announced, however.

Forty-nine nations, including Japan, gave conference secretary Warren Kelchner notice by last night that they would sign the peace pact. Of the 52 who had left out only Russia, Poland and Czechoslovakia. Technically they could still show up, but none of the other delegations thought there was the least chance they could do so.

Gromyko's final reversal in debate came during a hectic night session in which he was hopelessly out-manuevered by other delegations and the rulings of Secretary of State Dean Acheson, his presiding officer.

Premier Shigeru Yoshida of Japan, in his only speech to the conference, had expressed his government's assent to the treaty, yet declared his "pain and anxiety" over the loss of territory which the pact will confirm.

He asked for return to Japanese control of the Ryukyu and Bonin Islands, held by the United States, and South Sakhalin and the Kurile Islands, held by Russia.

He refused Russia's charges that it is a "war" treaty. He appealed Soviet Communism, saying the threat of aggression would make it necessary for American troops to remain in Japan "temporarily" after the occupation.

Yoshida, speaking in Japanese read from a scroll which he unrolled across the lectern and he declared: "When the final peace is announced that also be the end of the conference had to do with next to do."

Ceylon moved, and Cuba seconded, that additional ballroom talks be permitted until 11 p. m. when all business except the signing ceremony would be suspended.

Gromyko was on his feet at the time. He wanted to know what had happened to Russia's amendment which he had circulated Wednesday. Among other changes it would have prohibited American troops in Japan after the occupation and would have drastically limited Japanese forces.

Acheson said that when Gromyko spoke Wednesday he had introduced the amendment. He merely made a statement of it. He quoted Gromyko's amendment to that effect. The Russian amendments were before the conference. Acheson replied that what he said was "in accordance with the record."

Acheson ruled Gromyko's amendment. The Russian protestant son then went through a long explanation of why he considered it "a matter of order and discipline." "Do I make myself clear?" Gromyko asked.

Dr. Gertrude Sakanaka, Czech delegate, got up and talked with Acheson and sat down in apparent without saying anything.

The conference then adjourned to 10 a. m. 11 a. m. C.S.T. and ended with a 15-minute recess.

speeches from the Communist minority.

When Gromyko started from the room, a brief bedlam broke out. Photographers and reporters dashed for the corridor through which the Russian regularly passed to enter his limousine.

Outside the big black automobile was waiting a police escort and its motorcycle engines, running. In the crowds which quickly gathered behind police lines people were saying to each other "This is it." But it wasn't.

Whether Gromyko deliberately faked a walkout, or whether he merely was tired and wanted a few minutes change may be debated for a long time.

Gromyko strode back to the rostrum and insisted on recognition of the Russian amendments on the ground that it was "violation" of Russia's rights as a sovereign nation to forbid discussion of them.

After some argument Acheson ruled the amendments out of order. Polish Delegate, Manfred Laski, speaking English, got up and said the ruling was "absurd." He argued every nation had a right to present its amendments. He implied the Reds had come here to rework the draft treaty, then had found they could not do so.

That brought American Delegate John Foster Dulles to his feet. He said hotly the treaty had been negotiated through diplomatic channels for 11 months and every nation had opportunity to make proposals.

Furthermore he said, Russia, Poland and Czechoslovakia had been positively told to stop their com-

THE STORY: Holly Hernandez had been planning to return to the States, leaving her job as secretary to the writer Steve Vargas in Santa American, but Carmelita Hernandez, spoiled daughter of a plantation owner, is pleading with her to leave as a husband and Holly changes her mind about going.

VI
THE hectic day wore on in a blur of sandwich making, coffee boiling, dishwashing, chugging of train engine, and roaring of trucks. Holly Hernandez was just coming back to the plantation house for another basket of sandwiches for the banana cutters, when she heard a movement in the study.

It was Carmelita Hernandez, sitting in Steve's chair with the manuscript of his book in her hands. "Did Steve invite you here?" Holly asked, surprised.

"No," Carmelita's manner was cool and composed and a little superior. "I came myself because I want to see what he writes."

Holly stood a moment, shocked and astounded. Then: "Let me have it please!"

"And who are you?" Carmelita asked, insolently, "to tell me to give it to you?"

"I'm his secretary," said Holly, quietly.

"And I," said Carmelita, sweetly, "am going to be his wife. I should know what he writes."

"Will you give me that?" Holly said quietly, but with an edge on her voice. "You have no right—as yet anyway—to come into this room without an invitation."

"My father will have this book published here in Central America," Carmelita went on, calmly. "I shall translate it into Spanish, and whatever the New York publisher would pay for it my father will double!"

The two girls faced each other across the desk, Carmelita defiantly clutching the yellow sheets with Steve's red-penciled revisions on them—Holly, holding on to her ing here that the San Francisco conference was solely for the purpose of making speeches about and signing the treaty—no draft.

"They didn't need to come unless they wanted to," Dulles boomed, as he turned from the stage. This punch line proved highly popular with most delegations and the spectators, who applauded violently while Acheson rapped for order.

Acheson called for a vote on whether he was right in ruling Gromyko's amendments out of order. The conference sustained him 4 to 2. In a few minutes Gromyko was back at the speaker's stand again, after having failed in an effort to get the opportunity to speak last.

His talk was fast and his delivery mostly colorless. He repeated charges he had made before. He began with the accusation of American "pressure," then launched into his familiar recital: Red China had had no voice in the treaty; the United States "wishes to create a war block based on Japan"; Russia's treaty proposals, though ruled "illegal" here, will find an "echo" among the nation's particularly interested in the defense of peace in the Far East.

He named in this connection China, India, Burma, Indonesia, Ceylon and the Philippines and referred to the people of Japan. Some diplomats interpreted this as giving the clue to his real purpose in sticking out the conference. They felt he was laying down a propaganda line for undermining the treaty in that part of the world where it most needed acceptance.

Dulles winding up the debate which had started Wednesday after President Truman opened the conference Tuesday night, answered Gromyko. He declared the United States had made "earnest efforts" to come to agreement with the Soviet union but had found it impossible to do so.

"And if we have not done so by the time this treaty is signed tomorrow," Dulles said, "the reasons why will be apparent to everybody. We all know that the proposed Soviet amendments seek to make Japan defenseless. And yet we know that a strong dynamic power is in close proximity to Japan."

Of the charge the treaty was preparation for war Dulles said "there will never be an act of the United States which will turn it into war."

Excitement over Gromyko's walkout was little lessened in conference corridors because it proved to be a dud. Dulles had predicted the previous night that Gromyko would take a walk at some point and Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH) had said he understood that was their plan.

People all over the auditorium were keyed up for just such a move. Gromyko unquestionably was aware of this.

Britain's Kenneth Younger was speaking at the time. It was a measured, unimpassioned talk aimed at knocking down some of Gromyko's points and emphasizing that the Russians had had a chance in advance of meeting here to make their proposals on the treaty.

WARSHIP STEAMER CLIDE

Liverpool, Eng., Sept. 8 — (AP) — The battleship Duke of York and a cruise steamer with 950 passengers aboard collided in the river Mersey last night. Fifty persons on the ferry were slightly injured. Neither vessel was badly damaged.

temper with difficulty and wondering what to do next. In the midst of the tableau Steve walked in.

"Holly, I wish you'd— He saw Carmelita and stopped.

"Miss Hernandez inserts on taking your manuscript home with her to read," Holly explained sweetly. "She says that as your future wife, she will translate it into Spanish, and your future father-in-law will see that it is published here and will bring you twice what your New York publisher will pay you. Shall I let her have it?"

Steve strode toward the desk, and Holly saw that Carmelita was more than half afraid. "It's an attractive offer," he said, "but I'm afraid Miss Hernandez isn't fully aware of what she is saying. Give me the manuscript, Carmelita," he snapped.

Carmelita handed it over, meekly.

"Now," he said, gesturing toward the door, "don't ever come in here unless I bring you in—and you should live so long!"

He strode to the window and watched her leave the house.

"I never surprised anyone going through my boss's papers before," Holly said, doubtfully. "I—hope I was useful."

"You did right," he assured her. "What am I going to do with that dame, anyway?" he groaned. "My future wife? Why, I wouldn't marry her if her father was old man Croesus himself!"

SO Holly didn't reserve passage on the returning banana boat at all. Instead of being on board awaiting departure, she was attending the dance given by the American Club for the tourists who had come ashore to see the town. It was old stuff to Ray and Elsa Porter, but thrilling and ex-

Atlantic City, N.J., Sept. 8 — (AP) — The spotlight in this thronged seaside resort swung to beauty and glamour tonight for the crowning of the new Miss America.

It is the final curtain in the pageant which started with 31 aspiring beauties. By midnight only ten will remain. The other five automatically will receive $1,000 scholarships. Names of the 15, will not be announced, however, until tonight's performance begins.

There are three divisions in the contest. Each girl must take part in a talent contest and must appear once in an evening gown and once in a bathing suit. Evening gown winners are to be announced first. The bathing suit winners are to be announced last.

The "only double" winner in the announced divisions is Lu Ann Gardner, Ten 19-year-old brown-haired Miss North Carolina won the first bathing suit competition of

By noon 15 contestants will have been selected as scholarship winners. The ten receiving the highest number of votes will appear in the finals tonight. The other five automatically will receive $1,000 scholarships. Names of the 15, will not be announced, however, until tonight's performance begins.

Grandma Speaks Up

Dear Miss Dix: In answer to "Worn-Out Ma," how about the other side of the question? Wasn't Grandma 23 years ago? Did she have an automatic washer, an automatic gas range, dish washer, clothes dryer or iron? No, this grandma used a washboard. Was there as many families with cars? Did we have canned baby food? No. I looked out for two hours. Today the cereal is moldered and the corned beef is used. Nursing a baby is a big job and uses up the mother's energy. Yet with all the labor-saving appliances very few families today. We didn't have the babies of "shots" either. We dreaded diseases such as diphtheria which are almost non-existent today.

Grandma has earned her place. What's more, she can't please the younger generation. She's old-fashioned and believes in "spankology" rather than "psychology."

the pageant Wednesday night and last night got the vote of the judges in the talent section with a piano rendition of "Malaguena."

The bright-eyed Miss North Carolina is five feet, eight and three-quarter inches tall, weight 134 pounds. She has a 26 inch waist, 36 inch bust and 37 inch hips.

Miss Arkansas was last night's other preliminary winner, taking first in the bathing suit section. She is 18-year-old Charlotte Rose-Shamen of Little Rock. And according to her, the bathing suit isn't just for contests her favorite sport is swimming.

Miss Arkansas who has brown hair and brown eyes, stands five feet, seven inches and weighs 130 pounds. She has a 24-inch waist, 36 inch bust and 36 inch hips.

The girls in the contest come from 44 states, Puerto Rico, Hawaii, Canada and four U.S. cities: Chicago, Philadelphia, New York and Washington.

Miss Alabama, 21-year-old Jeanne Moody, and Miss Utah, Colleen Kay Hutchins, 25, won previous talent contests this week.

Miss South Dakota Marlene Margaret Rich, 19, was the third winner in the bathing suit division.

Because the evening gown winners are not announced and because the girls do not find out how they rate in the required breakfast with the judges, every girl in the contest may consider she has a chance until the selection of Miss America is announced tonight.

Legal Aid Society nearest you for advice. Don't try to carry the whole burden yourself. You make it too easy for your husband to evade his responsibility.

Dear Miss Dix: I am almost 20 years old and am plagued with blushing, which seems to grow steadily worse. The girls laugh at me, and some just call it cute. Regardless, I consider it a liability and would like to know its cause and cure.

CHARLES
Answer: You'll just have to resign yourself to whatever teasing your blushing elicit from your friends as there's no cure except to overcome the self-consciousness that causes it. Blushing was a necessary attribute of heroines in Victorian novels, but the self-assurance that characterizes the younger generation has made it almost extinct today.

GUARDO CORRAL — 1925 is a four year old Holstein bull being used on the Arkansas Artificial Insemination Stud Farm in Fayetteville. Guardo Corral has a DHA proved sire that has eighteen daughters that averaged better than 12,000 pounds of milk on a 305 day test that tested 3.7 percent butter fat and averaged 442 pounds butter per year.

DREAMING DOLL'S STANDARD — 497852 is a Jersey bull from one of the highest priced lines in the Jersey breed. Dreaming Doll's Standard is one of the fine Jersey bulls being used for the Artificial Insemination Association. The sire of this bull has ten tested daughters that averaged 10,963 pounds of milk on a 305, twice a day, test, and averaged 571 pounds of butter fat per cow. His sire, Pompos Dreaming Standard was the grand champion bull of the All American Jersey show in 1946.

These two bulls are just two of the excellent bulls that will be available to local cattle raisers through the Artificial Breeding Program which is being organized in this area. Mr. Aubrey Wilson, a local dairyman, is chairman of this organization, and Mr. John Shirley is secretary-treasurer of this committee. There is a community in each community that has the information on this breeding program as well as the chairman and secretary. Membership may be also taken at the Chamber of Commerce office. Some twelve or fifteen hundred breeding cows are needed to effect the local organization. This is a genuine opportunity to improve the dairy cows of this area. Every farmer should take advantage of this opportunity by making use of this fine service.

Yanks Take Lead From Cleveland

By JOE REICHER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Baseball may be a young man's game but the "old men" are shaping the destiny of the pennant races in the American and National leagues.

The New York Yankees are back in first place in the American league thanks to Joe DiMaggio, 38; Johnny Mize, 38; and Alie Reynolds, 32, who led the club to a 4-2 triumph over Washington yesterday. Doubles by Mize and Di-Maggio drove in three ninth-inning runs and gave Reynolds his 14th win.

Cleveland's Indians are only one percentage point behind the Yanks because of the brilliant pitching of 32-year-old Bob Feller. The star right-hander gave the Tribe a split in their two-night doubleheader at St. Louis. Feller shut out the Braves, 7-0, after Ned Garver had pitched St. Louis to a 4-2 opening victory.

Five innings of shutout relief pitching by 37-year-old Ellis Kinder helped the Boston Red Sox gain a split in their twin bill at Philadelphia, keeping them close to the leaders. Kinder, aided by three hits and two tallies by Lou Boudreau, 34, received credit for Boston's 8-5 opening win. The Athletics, however, won the nightcap, 11-4, as Billy Hitchcock 33, batted in five runs with two triples and two singles and 35-year-old Eddie Jost cracked a three-run homer.

Brooklyn retained its five and a half game edge over the New York Giants in the National league race as 33-year-old Preacher Roe pitched a 11-6 win over Philadelphia. Third baseman Billy Cox, 32, with two doubles and a triple, drove in four Dodger runs. It was Roe's 19th triumph against two losses.

Monte Irvin, 32, hammered his 10th homer and drove in three tallies to lead the Giants to a 7-3 win over the Boston Braves. Thirty year old Larry Jansen went the route for his 16th victory.

Elsewhere 32-year-old Virgil Trucks pitched and baited Detroit to a 2-1 nightcap victory over the Chicago White Sox in 14 innings.
The Tigers, behind the five hit inning in the 14th with a double.
The loser was 24-year-old Billy Pierce.

Billy Johnson, 33, hammered in four runs to lead the St. Louis Cardinals to an 11-4 victory over Pittsburgh. Cincinnati won an 11-inning 7-6 decision over Chicago's Cubs when Dixie Howell, 31, hit a long fly to score Hank Edwards, 33.
The blow came off 41-year-old Dutch Leonard.

The Yankees came from behind to whip Washington and Sid Hudson in a bizarre finish. They opened their half of the ninth trailing, 2-1. Joe Collins singled and went to second on a sacrifice.
Hudson fanned Mickey Mantle for the second out but Mize pinch hit a double to score Collins with the tying run. Gene Wooding singled pinch runner Billy Martin to third and went to second when Hudson took a full windup pitching to Di-Maggio.

Joe then sent a drive that bounced into the right field stands.
The official scorer ruled both runs counted and credited DiMaggio with ground rule double even though the rule book states that only one run should count. Later, President Will Harridge upheld the scorer's decision.

Garver stopped the Indians with seven hits in outpitching Mike Garcia. It was the Brownie ace's 16th win. Cliff Mages' homer with one on highlighted a three-run first inning. Feller also gave up seven hits in registering his 22nd victory. He fanned eight. Al Rosen and Luke Easter got five of Cleveland's 16 hits.

Alex Kellner went the route winning his ninth game for the A's after Kiner had picked up his ninth victory against two losses for the Red Sox in the first game.
